Administrator-county sign agreement

Karl Samuelson, the administrator of Hyland Crest Home for senior citizens in Minden has signed a contract for his continuing services at the facility until the end of 1988. The agreement between the administrator and Haliburton County Council was reached at a special meeting February 27.

Earlier in the month, the council had apparently taken action to terminate the man's contract at the home. When word of the action became public, a campaign of residents of the home and citizens was mounted to reverse the decision. The outpouring of support included a number of letters to the editor published in last week's edition of The Times. At that time, neither side in the dispute would comment on the issue.

Following a meeting on Friday, the county and administrator issued a joint press release which said the man had been offered and accepted a contract for the post until December 1988.

The following is the text of that press release.

"The Haliburton County Council passed a unanimous decision at their special meeting of February 27 making Karl Samuelson the Administrator of Hyland Crest Senior Citizens Home on a permanent basis. The County and Mr. Samuelson signed a mutual agreement which ensures Mr. Samuelson's services at Hyland Crest until the end of 1988 with a renewable clause.

"The resolution revokes an earlier one in which the Administrator's length of service was held in question.

" 'Never was Mr. Samuelson's capability or performance held in question,' said Murray Fearrey, Warden of Haliburton County. 'Our prime concern was one of stability and we have achieved that for the residents and staff as a result of meaningful discussions and ultimately a compromise and mutual agreement.'

"The Warden admitted that the widespread public support expressed in Mr. Samuelson's favour was important but was not the governing factor.

"Certainly public opinion has to be considered by elected officials,' said Fearrey, 'and this was no exception. But County Council, in my opinion, acted properly and based its decision on what was best for Hyland Crest. I am very confident that we are now on a solid foundation and look forward to positive relationships and sound leadership at Hyland Crest for years to come.'

"The Administrator agreed.

" 'There's wisdom to the saying that evey cloud has a silver lining and the past few days have brought a lot of people closer together,' said Samuelson. 'The residents and staff of Hyland Crest deserve the best in quality care and positive work conditions and that's what we must all now work toward achieving.'

" 'It's unfortunate that rumours sometimes circulate creating tensions on both sides,' concluded Fearrey. 'When both parties sat down and dealt with pure facts we quickly realized that our interests are the same. I feel that there is now confidence on both sides and look forward to working together.'

"Said the Administrator: 'Wonderful things can be accomplished when people work together.'

Redmen advance to semi-finals

The Redmen have advanced to the semi-final playoffs in the Kawartha District. The team defeated Campbellford Tuesday afternoon in Haliburton to take the best two total point series 8-3.

The opening game of the series was played Monday in Campbellford where the Redmen went down to a 2-1 defeat. While the team would have preferred a win, the loss by a single goal did not place the Redmen at too large a disadvantage in the total point series.

The lone Redmen goal was scored by Scott Nesbitt in Monday's contest.

Perhaps being behind the eight ball gave the team the push it needed to come up with the victory Tuesday afternoon.

Tran Larue led the team's attack with four goals. Mike Blake picked up a pair while Scott Russell notched a single. The Redmen were able to hold the Campbellford team off the score board until the final seconds of the third period. The visitors ruined the shut-out

Hospital donation a final gift

A Toronto woman who once owned the girls' canoe tripping camp, Camp Windy Pine, has donated $12,156 to the Haliburton Hospital Expansion Fund.

Mary Louise Northway, a retired University of Toronto professor owned and ran the camp from 1941 until 1950.

Stanhope Reeve Harry Davis wrote to Dr. Northway earlier this year, asking for a contribution to the Hospital Expansion Fund.

Because the 78 year old woman was very ill, she gave the letter to her lawyer and instructed him to make the donation for her.

It was arranged that Dr. Northway would pay the amount needed to furnish a hospital room for two, an amount of $12,156.

Davis received the cheque last Friday at noon. Dr. Northway died in a Toronto hospital that evening.

U.S. journalists discover reality of acid rain

Journalists representing some of the major United States publications had an opportunity to learn first hand about the impact of acid rain on individuals in the Muskoka and Haliburton regions.

The occasion was a reception and dinner sponsored by the Ministry of Environment at the Riverside Inn in Bracebridge Monday evening. Writers from such well-known publications as Time magazine, Business Week, the Washington Post and others south of the boarder were given an opportunity to discuss the impact of the phenomenon with a selected group of area citizens representing a variety of backgrounds.

Fred Gardner, the past president of the Hall's lake Property Owners Association, was the only individual from Haliburton County to be invited to the gathering. He said the informal setting, with a reception and dinner, provided a valuable opportunity for the journalists to meet and talk with people whose lives are being affected by acid rain.

When asked by one journalist if he was concerned about acid rain, he told the interviewer he was more than "concerned", he was scared. Gardner noted that close to 80% of the residential property assessment in the Township of Stanhope is related to seasonal use, cottages, with an estimated real estate value of $210 million. The value of these properties will be affected if the lakes continue to deteriorate as a result of acid rain. He noted the permanent and commercial assessment at over $100 million would also suffer.

P.C. candidates prepare for balloting

About 40 Progressive Conservatives from throughout the Victoria-Haliburton riding braved slippery conditions early Sunday morning to get a closer look at the three individuals who are seeking the party's nomination for the next provincial election.

Haliburton County resident Art Ward and Victoria County hopefuls Anne Wilson and Valmay Barkey addressed the breakfast meeting held at the Wig-A-Mog Inn. Each candidate was given an opportunity to present a brief outline of his or her platform and then respond to questions from the P.C's in attendance.

Anne Wilson, the first to speak, told the gathering that the present MPP John Eakins, is losing the hearts of the people in the riding. She said the closure of the regional riding office in Haliburton and the fact that approval has been granted for four additional ambulance attendants for this area but funding is being withheld are two reasons the electorate are turning away from the Liberal MPP.

In a plea for party unity, Wilson told the gathering the constituency organization could not afford a "north-south battle...this time we must fight John Eakins. A vote for me is a vote for unity."

Art Ward reiterated earlier comments that he was pleased to be involved in a three-way race for the party's candidacy. "It proves we are strong," he told the meeting.

Ward, who operates Wig-A-Mog Inn, and who has been involved on a number of provincial tourist organizations, said John Eakins has been, "...a major disppointment for the tourism industry." Ward said there had been lots of talk and announcements from the ministry headed by Eakins, but no new legislation. He chided the ministry for what he described as a weak advertising campaign that utilized a fake lake and studio-built general store to sell the attractiveness of the province.

Ward also targetted the Destinations East support program for the tourist industry. He said the program has sputtered along for months and predicted it could be some time before funding from the program reaches tourism operators. Ward said that Destination East should be operating within the framework of the Eastern Ontario Development Corporation where expertise for development projects is already in place.

The candidate also told the meeting that although the Liberal government had realized a major increase in revenues, taxes have not been cut. He said the province has in fact raised taxes.

Valmay Barkey told the party members that this area of the province has the highest density of seniors in Ontario. She said that through her work in Victoria County, she has become keenly aware of the needs of this sector of the community and was ready to respond to these.

She noted her background as the wife of a farmer and feed store operator, gave her firsthand knowledge of the problems facing the agricultural community and the small business operator. She also said she was concerned about the impact acid rain is having on agriculture and the lumber industry.

"I offer you an opportunity to change our riding," she told the meeting.

Questions and answers

The candidates then responded to a number of questions from audience. The following is a brief summary of the topics discussed:

The opening of retail outlets on Sundy: Ward - the decisions should be left to the municipalities and the businesses; Barkey - the municipalities should have a final say; Wilson - while she

The Redmen now face Adam Scott Collegiate of Peterborough in a best of three playoff. The first game is today (Wednesday) in Douro arena, near Peterborough. The action returns to home turf Thursday evening when the teams take to the ice at the Haliburton arena at 8 p.m. A third game, if required, will be played Friday back in Douro.

The winner of this series will meet the champion of a Fenelon Falls - St. Peters (Peterborough) semi-final playoff, currently under way. This series will begin following the March school break. The winner of the Kawartha final will advance to the all-Ontario playoff.

Different perspectives

The dust has all but settled in the controversy surrounding the administrator of Hyland Crest Home for seniors in Minden. A press release, issued by both the county council and the administrator on Monday indicated that any differences which had existed had been resolved and a firm contract had been signed by both parties.

The amiable resolution of the situation will certainly be a relief to all those individuals who expressed their concern through personal contact, letters and petitions. The reaction was certainly strong and vocal.

In looking back on the council's decision and later reversal of position, we can't help but wonder if the councillors' actions were based more on emotion than fact. We also wonder if the presence of some non-elected county citizens on the home's board of management might have provided the input needed to prevent the issue becoming the brief tempest that it did.

We, in no way, denigrate the contribution made by the municipal politicians on the home's board of management. They represent the local taxpayer who provides a significant share of the facility's operating budget. The managerial skills that bring to the task as elected officials are appreciated by all concerned. But, as most of us are aware, the municipal politicians carry a heavy workload covering many areas of responsibility.

By inviting several knowledgeable and interested citizens to be a part of the management board of the home the council could help reduce their own workload while introducing a different and valuable perspective on this public facility's operation.

The use of citizens on municipal and county committees and boards is not new. Virtually every municipality in the Highlands utilizes the service of these concerned individuals to share the work and provide valued input. The Haliburton County Library Board included non-elected representatives in its roster.

Since Hyland Crest provides a vital, people oriented service of benefits to all county residents, we believe adding several citizens-at-large to the board of management should be given serious consideration.

Smoke signals

- by Arthur Black -

If the French had any business sense at all they would copywrite the cliche "plus ca change, plus c'est la meme chose". That way they would stand to make a few francs every time some lazy scribbler like me uses the expression to start a column.

Don't bother trying to pry Junior away from the television to translate -- the phrase means "the more things change, the more they stay the same". It applies to a lot of situations in life -- such as the tiny item in my newspaper last week headlined SMOKING BAN IS RECOMMENDED. The story under the headline announced that my local school board has approved a total smoking ban on all school property, effective September, 1989.

Gee, that'll bring us right up to date with 25 years ago.

Back when I was a guppy in the fishbowl of Academia, smoking on the school grounds was a heresy that ranked right up there with robbing banks or shooting heroin in the halls.

Come to think of it, you might have been able to get away with shooting heroin in my school halls. The staff probably would have taken you for a rugged individualist on a self-vaccination program. No smoking though, pal -- ever. I once saw a kid get sent to the principal for having a pack of cigarettes in his pocket.

As for any wretch luckless enough to be nabbed with an actual mouthful of smoke or an illegal Export A smoldering between his fingers -- instant expulsion. Student smoking wasn't frowned upon, it was stomped on with hobnailed boots. Not that such a fascistic atmosphere deterred my fellow puffers and gaspers for long -- an addict is an addict is an addict. We smoked behind telephone poles and clots of gossiping girls. We crouched down and lit up between cars in the parking lot. Before the bell rang in the morning you could see us in the nethermost reaches of the schoolyard, circled like muskoxen, furtively sneaking drags from cigarettes cupped in our palms. Some of us shamelessly cultivated the friendship of Olaf, the monosyllabic janitor, because rumour had it that if Olaf liked you, he'd let you tip toe down to the boiler room for a clandestine smoke.

The biggest challenge was sneaking a smoke during PT -- which is what we called Gym Class back in the Paleolithic Era. It was a challenge because there are not that many places you can hide a cigarette and a book of matches in a pair of flimsy gym shorts, which is all we got to wear. What made PT puffing even more perilous was our instructor Archie Bell -- an ex-British Commando-cum-raving-Health Nut who liked to punctuate his character building suggestions with a none-too-gentle cuff to the earhole.

It is hard to imagine what Mr. Bell might have done had he collared one of us in the act of smoking while he was doing his evangelistic best to purify the temples of our bodies.

Hard to imagine and gruesome to contemplate.

But all our teachers were tough -- so tough that the schoolyard smoking ban was extended far beyond the schoolyard itself. I remember an actual raid that the vice-principal and a couple of hand-picked flunkies from the History Department conducted on a restaurant near the school. The restaurant was our equivalent of an opium den. The proprietor allowed us to sit in his booths and puff our brains out as long as we purchased a reasonable volume of cokes, burgers and chips with gravy.

It was a deliciously sinful way to spend our lunch hours -- right up to the day the vice principal burst through the restaurant door brandishing notepad and ballpoint, maniacally scribbling down the names of expellees-to-be.

Me? I'm a survivor. I hid under a table.

I tried to tell some 1980's edition teenagers about the Great Restaurant Nicotine Raid, but they just gave me looks that sugested they thought I was smoking something a lot stronger than Virginia Leaf. "You kiddin' us Mister Black? Heck, at our school the kids have special smoking rooms."

We are in Mr. Reid's enrichment program at Archie Stouffer Elementary School in Minden. We have been researching the acid rain problem in the world. If the acid rain problem gets worse, the lakes will all die. We have visited an acid research centre in Dorset. The lakes in the area are getting very badly polluted and the lakes are disappearing. We think the industries should try hard not to pollute the air as much as they have already. Please try and see what you can do.

On October 30, 1986, one of my worst childhood dreams almost came true. In my dream I was attacked by a rabid fox, but in reality it was my cat who was attacked. It is hard to describe the terror I felt then, but I'll never forget it. It was like a nightmare standing helplessly by and watching while that crazed animal tore my cat apart, or so I thought at the time.

After many frantic phone calls, a neighbour arrived on the scene and put the fox out of its misery. All this took about thirty minutes and yet my cat was still alive.

My husband took him to Dr. Laurie Brown's office where she determined that other than bites on his nost and hind legs and being frightened out of his wits, he was alright and would heal. The big question now was would he get rabies?

Another question was raised, one I did not want to hear. This was, should he be destroyed immediately or given a chance and quarantined for the required ninety days? That's a long time to be in a cage when you're used to running free. That also meant I couldn't touch my pet cat for ninety days (no easy task, believe me).

Dr. Brown and Dr. Campbell of Agriculture Canada were both of the opinion that because Yankee Doodle (that's my cat) had had regular rabies vaccinations, he should be given a chance. If he were to get rabies, it would most likely be evident in approximately three weeks given the proximity of the bites to his brain.

Rabies is a disease of the nervous system and once in the body, heads directly for the brain. There it does all sorts of horrible things to the body resulting in a sure but slow and agonizing death.

Caring for the environment

-by John Eakins MPP-

The protection of our environment is an issue which affects all of us, whether we live in Victoria-Haliburton or anywhere else in the province. During the last year, I have been encouraged by the number of people who have taken the time to write me outlining their concerns regarding our environment.

One of the issues that usually comes up when environmental protection legislation is discussed, focuses on the economic cost of cleaning up the environment. The dilemma poses difficult questions for many.

As a result, my colleague, the Honourable Jim Bradley, the Minister of the Environment, is tackling this issue head on. The Minister will join Canada's environment Ministers and key corporate decision makers to begin work on a national action plan linking economic development and environmental protection efforts.

The new National Task Force on Environment and Economy met for the first time in Winnipeg on February 17. This new private and public sector initiative is being carried out under the auspices of the Canadian Council of Resource and Environment Minister (CCREM).

In addition to making recommendations on a Canadian environmental protection strategy, the task force will be responsible for increasing awareness of the important linkages between a healthy environment and future economic prosperity.

The CCREM approved the creation of the task force in October 1986, as a direct follow up to the May visit of the World Commission on Environment and Development (Brundtland Commission) and the World Conservation Strategy Conference. Another of the task force's responsibilities will be to provide a Canadian response to the Brundtland Commission's final report, entitled "Common Future". The report is scheduled for presentation at the United Nations General Assembly in New York in October.

The World Commission, headed by Norwegian Prime Minister Gro Brundtland, held meetings across Canada in May including public hearings in Ottawa. The Commission has been on a global fact finding mission and has also held hearings in Indonesia, Norway, Brazil, Zimbabwe, the USSR and Japan. The World Conservation Strategy, commissioned by the United Nations Environment Program, was endorsed by Canada and 33 other countries in 1981. Its purpose is to convince leaders and decision makers that life and sustained economic prosperity depend upon wise use of the earth's resources.

New refugee rules

- by Bill Scott, MP -

On February 20, Benoit Bouchard, Minister of Employment and Immigration and Gerry Weiner, Minister of State (Immigration) announced a series of administrative changes. These changes will increase Canada's ability to help genuine refugees who need our protection by deterring abuse of the refugee determination system.

These changes, which take effect immediately, include the following. The blanket policy on admissions non-deportation which applies to certain countries is cancelled. People arriving in Canada seeking refugee status will be placed in the refugee claims system; Minister's Permits will no longer be automatically issued at the port of entry.

All refugee claimants coming from the United States will now remain temporarily in the United States until a Canadian immigration hearing can take place. People coming from those countries whose citizens now require visas to visit Canada will also require transit visas if they are travelling through Canada destined for another country.

"With global population increases, strife in many regions of the world, and reduced immigration opportunities elsewhere, it is natural that more and more people are looking to Canada for a new home," Mr. Bouchard said. "We want a positive immigration program that permits the orderly entry of immigrants and refugees but we cannot maintain such a program if we allow abuse of our refugee program to continue," he said.

In December, 1986, more than 3,000 people entered Canada to make refugee claims. In the first six weeks of 1987, over 6,000 claims were made. The special programs for Iran, El Salvador, Guatemala, Lebanon and Sri Lanka will be modified to focus on overseas processing. The special programs will continue to assist relatives of Canadians affected by events in these countries.

Mr. Weiner also said there would be increased assistance to international airlines to help them detect false travel documents of Canada-bound passengers. This would in turn support work within Canada on the problem of passengers arriving without proper travel papers.

These measures reflect the government's commitment to provide genuine refugees with protection. To do so, we must precent the refugee system from being undermined by abuse.

What do you think about...

The global economy

by Bill Kulas

As I sit down to write this article, I'm looking at a blizzard blowing in from the northeast over Lady Evelyn Lake, a wilderness area some 280 miles north west of Minden.

A long time friend of mine, Gerry Wheeldon from Kirkland Lake invited me along with my family for an ice fishing weekend at his family's fabulous Ellen Island Fish and Hunt Camp, founded by his dad Charlie some 45 years ago.

Expertly guided by an avid fisherman and outdoorsman, Barry Burrows of Cobalt, we were right at home in the great outdoors. We obtained our supply of water for drinking and cooking each morning in pails after having drilled holes through the ice, up here there's no such thing as hydro, telephones or indoor plumbing. Some might say that we roughed it, which brings me to this week's topic.

Two or three generations ago when my wife's ancestors and relations moved to the Highlands of Haliburton, mainly from Scotland and England, they had to rely on the land for their livelihood. Families such as the Chambers, McIntyres, Kelletts and Sissons were among the first settlers who farmed, raised livestock, logged, and you could say that they had their own personal access to the basic means of production and necessities of life.

Times back then were hard, but they made do with what they had. The economy of the time depended on the homestead seeds for crops, a horse or ox for transportation and plowing, wood for fuel. For most people economic things were limited to the family or at most the village where basic products and services were traded. Even the local doctor on making a house call would sometimes be paid in goods or services in lieu of cash. My wife's grandfathers, no doubt, all help hope for a better future for their children.

Over the years times have changed. New technologies, new economic systems, higher standards of living. What we take for granted today, seemed as only dreams to some of the oldtimers who have lived through all the changes of the past 60 years or more. Whereas our ancestors lived in a local economy a few short years ago, we and future generations will dwell in a world run economy. Look around! Many depend on cars, televisions, electronics and appliances from Japan, oil from Saudi Arabia, clothes from Hong Kong and Korea, food from other countries and computers from the U.S.A.

Even Canadian banks are caught up in this world economy. Just two weeks ago a South American country, Brazil, refused to make interest payments on a large international debt. Brazil owes our Canadian banks some 7.7 billion dollars, not peanuts is it?

What of the world's farming industry? The United States trades wheat to Russia in huge quantities so that the Russians can feed themselves, while at the same time, these two countries threaten each other with nuclear oblivion. The reason is economic, for the U.S. has other stiff competitors when it comes to the wheat trade, Australia and Canada. An ironic situation, don't you think?

Arthur Black

Well, not for much longer they don't. After years of increasingly damning statistics, umpteen dozen irrefutable medical reports and literally hundreds of thousands of lung cancer and heart disease deaths directly attributable to tobacco, the message is finally getting through.

The message is: Smoking Kills People. And any society that condones the practice in its educational institutions is guilty of something scandalously close to criminal negligence.

Twenty-five years ago our educators didn't have all the statistics and the evidence. All they had was The Rules.

It'll stunt your growth, they told us.

Well, they had that right.

Nothing like a tombstone over your head to severely stunt your growth.

from the chamber

by Shawn Hagerman

Last Thursday our Board had its monthly meeting at the Hospitality Training Centre, now located at Del Haven. Breakfast was provided free of charge, courtesy of the centre. Daun Windover and her staff and students must be commended for the excellent breakfast that was provided and the courteous service that was evident throughout the morning. This is an excellent facility and a much needed resource to our tourism based industry.

At our meeting there were several important committee reports. Dante Lacarde, from the Domain of Killien is our membership chairman. Over the past year, the board has been looking into a more equitable arrangement for membership. Among Dante's recommendations is that a survey be undertaken by himself and Robert Cairns to ensure that all members get a proper category for their business. In addition, a minimum membership fee of at least $100 was considered. Dante will be providing a detailed written account for presentation at our next board meeting. It was also suggested that a special one-time voluntary contribution be made sometime in the summer to offset our accumulated deficit.

Marj Kennedy of Silver Eagle, gave a report from the fund raising committee, it had been looking into the possibility of obtaining a licence and having a raffle for a ski chalet in the Eagle Lake area. However, Marj had just received word a few days before that the Chambers of Commerce are not allowed a licence to hold raffles or lotteries, this is a recent decision in December of 1986 by the Provincial government. Unfortunately this severely hampers our fund raising activity. Marj also reported that the cookbooks are going to press and will be available for purchase sometime in early April.

Among other things, Rhonda Elstone and Jane Selbie visited our board. Rhonda gave her last report as our liason for the Outreach Centre. John Mateer proposed a sincere thank you for the excellent job that she has done for our chamber over the last three years and a unanimous round of applause was given by our board. We also wished Jane Selbie and her staff the very best under their new sponsorship with Haliburton County.

The upcoming month will be an extremely busy one, with the Sportsmen's Show, Cullen Gardens, Travel and Leisure and Eaton's Centre shows.

Our next board meeting will be on March 26.

Acid rain

had visited the Inco smelter in Sudbury earlier in the day and were taken to Quebec Tuesday to see additional consequences of acid rain.

Janet Fraser, a spokesman for the Ministry of Environment acid rain testing station in Dorset, told The Times that the meeting in Bracebridge included individuals from various backgrounds. In addition to the lake association representative, others in attended were a real estate agent, trout farmer, sugar bush operator and a student and teacher among others. She said this was the first time the ministry had used this approach to inform the U.S. media about the province's concerns. The facility at Dorset has hosted a number of open houses where experts on acid rain were made available to the media, however, this was the first time local people had a chance to provide a first hand account of their concerns.

Also in attendance at the meeting was Jim Bradlay the Minister of Environment, Michael Perley, executive director of the Canadian Coalition on Acid Rain, and Sheila Hatch, a Muskoka area politician and an active spokesman against acid rain.

Gardner said the brief meeting was a worthwhile exercise that allowed individuals to express their personal concerns about the problem and how it will affect their future if it is allowed to continue.

Pair jailed for Wilberforce laundromat fire

An investigation into a fire which occurred in May 1982 in Wilberforce came to a conclusion on February 24 in Lindsay County Court with the sentencing of the persons responsible. The Wilberforce Laundromat, owned by Daniel and Arlene Mathews was destroyed by the fire. Although arson was suspected at the time, there was insufficient evidence to support a charge. In early 1985 the investigation continued with the arrest of Richard Quenneville age 39 of Peterborough. Quenneville was found guilty of arson in this fire and sentenced to 32 months in jail. Daniel Mathews age 47 and Reginald Lumbard age 45 of Peterborough were arrested as a result and charged with arson. Both were convicted in county court. Mathews was sentenced to 18 months in jail and Lumbard to 12 months in jail.

Fraud conviction

Katharine Hartin age 31 of Kinmount was sentenced to 30 days in jail for fraud, and 30 days consecutive for obstructing justice at County Court in Lindsay on February 23.

The charges stem from an incident at Minden on January 7 1985 when Hartin wrote a cheque on a closed bank account. The charge of obstructing justice was laid in March of 1985 after Hartin attempted to cause a witness to change their evidence in the case.

False pretences

Charges of false pretences were laid against Jennifer Moore age 29 of Minden after aninvestigation revealed eleven cheques totalling $434.00 were unlawfully written. The cheques were made out to local businesses. Moore will appear in Provincial Court in Minden on May 6, 1987.

The investigating officer was Constable Al Bibby.

Drug charge

Kinsley Garron age 29 of Minden has been charged with possession of a narcotic after a short investigation. Garron will appear in Provincial Court Minden on May 15.

Constable Al Bibby conducted the investigation.

Bad cheques

A Minden man has been charged with four counts of false pretences following an investigation during January.

According to a spokesman from the Minden detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police, the investigation revealed that numerous cheques were written on an account in a local bank. The cheques were returned by the bank since there were not sufficient funds to cover them.

Charged in the incident was 27 year old William Grant Porter. The man is scheduled to appear in Provincial Court April 8.

Constable Al Bibby was the investigating officer.

Break-in charge

Police have charged another Minden resident with a number of counts of break, enter and theft, break and enter with intent and related charges. The charges were laid following a lengthy investigation.

Charged is 19 year old Brian Mann.

According to the police, Mann has been charged with three counts of break and enter with intent, break enter and theft, one count each of possession of stolen property, theft under $1000 and theft over $1000. One incident occurred in January of 1986.

The charges will be heard March 4 in Provincial Court in Minden.

Constable Brad Burkholder is the investigating officer.

Summary

During the past week, the Ontario Provincial Police at Minden have investigated 30 general occurrences and five traffic accidents, none resulting in injury.

about a month at Dr. Brown's office where his wounds healed and no rabies appeared. Sixty days to go in another cage in my basement. I have another cat, Joey, who was quarantined at the same time because his whereabouts could not be accounted for at all times during the incident. At least now, with company, although in separate cages, there wasn't as much yowling. Depression is also a problem for caged animals.

I did not intend to write to you unless my story had a happy ending. I later decided, however, that this subject is one that has the potential of affecting the lives of all who reside in Haliburton County and indeed of anyone who reads your paper. Rabies vaccines do work and I am so happy to report that on February 3, 1987, after almost one hundred days in cages, my cats were set free.Yankee Doodle is living proof that they work.

The main purpose of this letter is to strongly urge your readers to have their animals vaccinated against rabies. If cost is a problem, there are free or at least reasonably priced clinics around. Spring is fast approaching, one of the worst times of the year for rabies so time is important. If anyone thinks this is not worth the bother, then they have never seen a rabid animal. I hope if they care anything for their pets, their first encounter with rabies is not their own pet.

If I may, I would like to take this opportunity to thank Dr. Brown and Dr. Campbell for their time, advice and for caring. I would also like to thank Aggie and Jack for their roles on October 30 in this ordeal, my Dad for the terrific cages and my family for all their support and who, I know, love "the boys" too.

Debra Dart, Haliburton.

P.S. You might advise your readers that if they have any questions about rabies or suspect an animal is rabid, they should call Agriculture Canada in Peterborough at 745-5613.

Attention Property Owners and Tenants in the Township of Monmouth

WANT TO APPEAL YOUR ASSESSMENT?

You still have time to appeal your 1986 assessment if you feel your home or business property has been improperly assessed.

Your assessment is important because the amount of property tax you pay depends on it, in that the assessed value of your property is multiplied by your municipal and school mill rate to determine your 1987 property taxes.

Notices of Assessment have been mailed to property owners and tenants whose assessments have changed since last year. Open houses have been held in your area to answer questions and amend assessment information if necessary. Open house dates and locations were announced in a previous advertisement.

The Assessment Roll has now been delivered to your municipality for the purposes of calculating the amount of tax you must pay on your property in 1987. For information on your assessment, the Assessment Roll is now available for review at your Municipal Office during regular business hours. If you feel your property has been improperly assessed, and you have not yet made your appeal known, you still have until March 19, 1987 to deliver or mail an appeal to the Assessment Review Board. And remember, even if you did not receive a Notice of Assessment, you still have the right to appeal.

Appeal deadline — March 19, 1987

The Assessment Review Board is an impartial body reporting to the Attorney General of Ontario which provides you with an additional opportunity to have your assessment reviewed if, in your opinion, it is not fair and equitable with similar properties in your area. The Review Board is more informal and relaxed than a regular court of law. You may present your own case, retain a lawyer, or ask a relative or friend to speak as your agent.

To help you in filing your appeal, Notice of Appeal forms are available from the Assessment Review Board, your Regional Assessment Office, or your Municipal Office. As well, you can use the reverse side of a Notice of Assessment or write a letter stating the property address and roll number together with your reasons for appealing. Appeals should be forwarded to the Regional Registrar of the Assessment Review Board listed below.

TRIP program offered again

Tourism operators in Ontario will continue to benefit from the Tourism Redevelopment Incentive Program (TRIP) and Grading Assistance Loans, Ontario Minister of Tourism, John Eakins, announced today.

The programs have been extended into 1987 and 1988, however, changes have been made to both programs, which are administered by the Ontario Development Corporations on behalf of the Ministry of Tourism and Recreation.

TRIP is a loan guarantee program for new construction expansion and upgrading of tourist facilities throughout the province. The maximum loan is $1 million for new projects or $750,000 for a first-time loan for existing operations. The loan is guaranteed to 90 per cent of the principal.

As a new condition of loan assistance under the TRIP program, applicants will have to provide a plan of reasonable access and facilities for disabled persons.

"Tourism Ontario, which represents the industry, has called the TRIP program the 'most productive, best-leveraged public investment ever created in this country'. Eakins said. "TRIP and the Grading Assistance loans have improved the quality of tourism facilities across Ontario. They are being extended because of their tremendous economic benefit to the tourism industry."

The grading program is a star-rating system for roofed accommodations, such as hotels, motels and resorts.

The Grading Assistance Loans encourage operators to upgrade their facilities and provide better accommodations for tourists.

In 1987, the program will be modified by raising hte loan limit from $50,000 to $100,000 and by making loans available to operations with annual revenues not exceeding $1.5 million, up from the previous limit of $1 million.

Over 900 properties are now participating in the grading program. $1 million has been set aside for this program in 1987.

Anyone interested in applying for a loan under the TRIP or Grading Assistance Loans programs should contact their local office of the Ontario Ministry of Tourism and Recreation in their area.

Lions' bunny is ten

This year marks the tenth anniversary of "The Original Lions Chocolate Easter Bunny."

The idea was originated in Montreal by a club that was looking for a fundraiser. It has since blossomed to where close to 2000 clubs are in the program.

This product is so successful because of the high quality of pure chocolate, no chemicals are used, making this solid Bunny a real treat.

Easter Bunnies are sold by Lions Clubs from coast to coast in Canada, across the United States, in the U.K. and possibly in Continental Europe in 1988.

The Minden and District Lions Club are using this delicious chocolate product to raise funds for their community projects.

These Chocolate Bunnies can be purchased at several local businesses displaying the "Lions Easter Bunny" sign.

Federation of Ontario Naturalists

During late winter, waterfront visitors often notice large numbers of dead, dying and active fish 'floating' in openings where currents or spring-fed streams thaw openings through the frozen surface of lakes and ponds.

Such congregations are not only a curiosity - they're a 'feeding station' for a host of animals - racoons, mink, otter, crows, coyote and gulls, to name a few. They're also a fascinating lesson in the wintertime biology of lakes.

For all animals in the outdoors, winter is a very stressful time. In one sense winter's frigid water acts as a saviour. There are two reasons for this. First, a fantastic amount of energy must be released to convert 0 degree C water into 0 degree C ice. (it takes as much energy as warming water 80 degrees C). Secondly, the ice floats (unlike most materials which continue contracting as they freeze). For these two reasons, the formation of ice at a lake's (or pond's) surface ensures that the lake's 'precious cargo' - of fish insects, invertebrates and hibernating reptiles and amphibians - doesn't freeze. More than that, the cold water reduces these cold blooded animals' body temperatures - putting them into a state of near-suspended animation, so that the precious supplies of body fat and available food will carry the animals through the long winter period of deprivation.

But at the same time, this ice formation creates a new stress - one related to oxygen supply. As the lake froze over in the fall, it was (mostly) sealed off from the air above - as though a giant layer of saran wrap had been stretched across the surface.

During the rest of theyear, oxygen from the air readily cross into the lake's water, where it is mixed by the actions of wind-driven waves and currents. And, during the summer, the lake's algae even produce oxygen.

In winter, the consumption to oxygen by the fish, insects, warms and decomposing vegetation continues. But oxygen production stops. And, the ice layer both stops the movement of oxygen across the surface, and sharply reduces the mixing currents.

So life congregates wherever there are openings through the ice.

These are most often where springwater (a balmy 10 degrees C) flows in, where rain-fed currents warm the ice from beneath and along the shore (where the sun's warmth turns rocks and logs into 'hot pokers' through the ice.)

In these oxygen oases, all life seems to congregate - bull and green frog tadpoles, gamefish, sticklebacks, and an array of minnows, dragonfly nymphs and a huge assortment of diving beetles. There may be hundreds of fish and thousands of other animals in a few square metres. Mink, otter and racoons come to feed on the 'easy pickings'. And an array of scavengers - crows and gulls to name a couple - come to feed on the fish which do succumb. A few of the large openings will even attract and 'keep' bald eagles and great blue herons that have stayed around for the winter.

It's intriguing to examine these openings from a safe location. Even to those not hardy enough to watch from a concealed location (best in early morning or late afternoon), tracks in the snow and slush record the visitors. But whatever you do, stay off thin ice. Remember that in late winter, ice melts mostly from the bottom and can vary greatly in thickness over a distance of a couple of metres.

Correction

agrees for a need for Sunday opening in tourist areas, her personal belief that Sunday was a family day...a day set aside.

The sale of beer and wine in corner stores: Ward - absolutely opposed..... suggests off-licence sale from existing premises could be a reasonable alternative; Barkey - agree with Ward; Wilson - opposed because it will add to alcoholism and make access easier for under-age drinkers.

Gay rights: Barkey - responding to the wishes of the community and does not endorse gay rights...there must be limits; Wilson - Bill 7 changes the moral climate of the province...I would not have supported that bill; Ward - there is no way that Bill 7 would be of benefit to this riding, however, the world is changing. There are areas of the province where this legislation is endorsed.

Government sponsored car insurance: Wilson - unfamiliar with issue; Ward - the private secotor can do it a whole lot better than the government; Barkey - requires further study, free enterprise has an enviable track record.

Capital punishment: Ward - free vote is the best way, must clamp down on easy parole, still listening to both sides on this issue; Wilson - we should do whatever we can to preserve a life...wants to see legislation before expressing her opinion. Barkey - this is a highly personal issue, statistics support both arguments, the process which has begun should be allowed to proceed.

Abortion: Ward - there are laws in place in this province regarding this matter, they should be followed; Wilson - we should do everything possible to preserve life. Thought should be given to consequences of abortion, infertility, the rights of the father, the law should be enforced; Barkey - cannot endorse abortion as a means of birth control, believe in the sanctity of human life.

Animal rights: Barkey - could result in problems for farmers; Wilson - support the farmers on this issue; Ward - feel the proponents of this cause are preying on the sympathies of those unfamiliar with all sides of the issue.

Equal pay legislation: Wilson - time for the government to get out of business, time for some de-legislation, support small business; Ward - being advanced too fast, we don't need 'pay police'; Barkey - equity is fair however determining equal worth will be an impossible task, the government has not shown much foresight with this legislation, opposed to the idea.

The closing of schools in north Victoria County: Ward - can't understand why the schools have been allowed to deteriorate, if we can (through foreign aid) help build schools in Jamaica, why can't we build them here; Barkey - a concensus is needed, why have these schools not received support funding; Wilson - Eakins is not listening to the people on this one, if elected will call for a complete investigation on the matter.

Hall's, Rockcliffe in men's final

The finals are here. The Rockcliffe Foamblowers will face off against Hall's. Insurance in the best of three series in the Minden Men's Recreational Hockey League.

Hall's captured a playoff berth by virtue of their four wins in the best of five round robin series which just ended. When the last game was played Monday evening, Rockcliffe and Hartwick Construction were toed with three wins each. Rockcliffe won the final play-off ticket by having scored more goals during the series than Hartwick.

In the first of three League games on Monday, Rockcliffe Tavern downed Hartwick Construction 8-4.

It was a fast, tough game with no apparent victor until the third period when Rockcliffe began to chalk up the goals.

In the first period Dave Pettes and Doug Schell both knocked in goals for Rockcliffe.

But they were countered in the second period by goals from Hartwick players Trent Lloyd and Gary Nelson, evening up the score to 2-2.

But Rockcliffe again gained the advantage toward the end of the period when Barry Shaw put one by the Hartwick goalie.

Except for two goals by Hartwick's Sid Mackeigan, Rockcliffe completely dominated the third period with a five goal streak. Scorers were: Merv Mintz, Barry Boice, Greg Carpenter, Kevin Hamilton and Ted Vasey.

In Monday night's second game, Hall's Insurance defeated Vasey Real Estate 9-4. It was another tough, well-played game.

Hall's started out by getting four goals in the first and second period. First to score was Bernie Upton, followed by Joe Mitchell, Rick Salmon and Dave Brown.

Vasey came back in the third period with a point by Larry Sawyer. Hall's matched that with another by Brown. That was countered, again by Vasey's Sawyer.

Then Hall's Upton and Brown came in for two more goals, Upton's second of the game and Brown's third.

Vasey's Dave Hartwick scored his team's third point of the game.

Brown knocked in his fourth point of the game for Hall's followed by team mate Jim Todd who got his first goal.

Then, minutes later, before the end of the third period, Vasey's Larry Sawyer completed a hat trick, making the final score 9-4 for Hall's.

In the final match of the evening The Times thrashed Home Hardware 14-2.

The Times left little doubt from the start as to who was going to win. Times players Doug Coburn and Daryl Ward put in the first two goals.

Home's Jeff Howe then came back with one for his team to which The Times replied with a 10 goal streak.

Scorers were: Doug Coburn who got a hattrick, Daryl Ward who also notched up a hattrick, Dave Rogers, Ben Manuge and Boomer Stamp who put in two.

Home's John McAdam broke the streak with a goal of his own and Times players Daryl Ward and Dave Rogers each came in with a goal, finishing off the game with a score of 14-2 for The Times.

The first game of in the best of three final series will be played next Monday at the Minden arena at 8 p.m. Admission to the game is free.

The Times goalie reaches up to glove a high shot by a Home Hardware player in the Minden Men's Recreational Hockey League game Monday night. The Times beat Home 14-2.

Monarchs meet Haliburton Novices

-submitted-

Thursday night the Monarchs Senior Novices hosted Haliburton II. This was the second time these two teams had faced off against each other and Haliburton, who had gone home defeated in the first match, clearly came with other ideas this time.

The first period was fast and competetive but Haliburton, back at full strength, managed three goals to Minden's one.

The second period was played from end to end and remained scoreless until, with only 46 seconds left, Haliburton scored on a breakaway.

The third period was again back and forth with Minden outshooting Haliburton but only managing one goal at the 7:45 mark. The final score was 4-2 for Haliburton.

Minden goals were scored by Andrew Wilbee (unassisted) and Todd Redgrave assisted by Tom Neville.

Both teams played well and gave us a good entertaining hockey game. If you missed it, you can still see our novice teams in the playoffs.

Hockey Redmen - the school's newest team

by John Greenwood

Gary Brohman believes hockey is an integral part of life of high schools and small towns. "In fact," he says, — "we thrive on it."

As head of the physical education department at Haliburton Highlands Secondary School and president of the minor hockey association in Haliburton, Brohman knows what he's talking about.

For the first time this year, HHSS has a hockey team. Brohman was instrumental in starting that team.

"In past years," he says, "it was thought that the high school didn't have the resources to support a successful hockey team. But last year I approached Walt McKechnie, who used to play in the NHL, to be our coach.

"Walt already had a heavy work load with his two restaurants in Haliburton, but he agreed anyway."

So coach McKechnie and assistant coaches Gary Brohman and Bill Johnston applied to get into the North Kawartha District High School Hockey League and recruited 24 boys from grades nine to thirteen to play on the team.

"The important thing," explains Brohman, "was to be competetive. It's no use joining a league if you can't match the calibre of the rest of the teams." Now, as the Redmen approach the playoffs of their very first season, they are third in an eight-team league. Not bad.

At home games - they're usually scheduled for Friday nights - not only do the parents and classmates of the Redmen crowd into the arena, but also a good part of the population of the village. At some of the games, as many as 800 people filled the stands. The team has become a focal point for both the village and the school.

Brohman thinks that's good. "It fills a void. It becomes a source of spirit for everyone."

He believes that is especially true for the players themselves. The high school has no winter team sport and their is neither a juvenile or junior team in Haliburton or Minden. So, if it wasn't for the Redmen, many of the players wouldn't be able to participate in any winter team sports.

And the discipline boys gain by playing hockey, says Brohman, will be an asset for the rest of their lives. They learn to do their academic work in the time allotted and they learn to take the knocks as they come.

"We've been frustrated at times," he says. "We've lost a few games and the boys know how to take it."

He doesn't agree with the criticism levelled at many school athletics programs that students should be spending their time at their books instead of on the playing field. "The sports arena is a very important part of every young person's school career," he argues. "We want to teach students to be well-rounded, to be balanced and not to focus on one tiny part of their lives with the exclusion of everything else.

"A school without sports is not a school at all. And that goes for other extra-curricular activities as well, like music and drama. We've got to allow our students to broaden themselves by participating in a full range of activities."

But Brohman is willing to make concessions. Though he doesn't agree that hockey can be an excuse for low marks, if a player needs it, he will be let off practice to study for a test or spend extra time on homework.

In a recent Times interview, Haliburton hockey referee Claude Parish said that Brohman and the Redmen are one of the few signs of hope in a sport which at the local level is beset with tales of poor management and violence on the ice.

Parish said that the key to the Redmen is discipline. Because the coaches - except for McKechnie - are teachers as well, they have more authority with the players than might a coach in the minor league. The result, according to everyone, the players included, is a brand of fast, tough, clean hockey that's new to the county.

Redman captain Mike MacNaull is full of praise for the brand of hockey he finds in the High School League.

Cory McKnight believes the key to the Redmen's success comes from the fact the players are representing their school.

Faster, cleaner

"It's a faster and better kind of hockey than you get in the minor leagues," explains Redmen assistant captain Tran LaRue. "It's just as tough and because of the red line rule - (unlike minor hockey, high school hockey allows players to pass across the red line) - it's much faster."

LaRue thinks hockey is also great for school spirit. "Everyone comes out to our games at home and I know that a lot of kids who didn't have much interest in the sport before are coming to see us."

Next year, LaRue is hoping to study business at Wilfred Laurier or the University of Toronto, where, if possible, he'll also play on the hockey team.

The other assistant-captain, Ian Cooper, also feels strongly in favour of the Redmen hockey team.

"It's really good and fast the way we play the game in this league," he says. "It's tough on some kids - those who also play minor hockey - but generally it doesn't get too much in the way of school work.

"The games are usually at night and the teachers are understanding if you don't have time to do something for school."

Cooper, like LaRue, thinks the Redmen are excellent for school spirit. He's also grateful to the coaches for starting the team, because if they hadn't, Cooper wouldn't be playing at all. "There's no juvenile or junior hockey teams here and I'm too old for Pee Wee. And being a red-blooded Canadian, I can't live without hockey."

> "A lot of guys want to go through school but don't want to leave home and friends..."

Another player, Cory McKnight, is also full of praise for the team. "The sportsmanship you get on the Redmen is really great. I think it has something to do with the fact that the guys are representing their school.

"When you play other teams you don't get people swearing at you and calling

Assistant coaches Bill Johnston, centre, and Gary Brohman discuss strategy with a member of the Haliburton Highlands Redmen Hockey team.

Redmen earn the fans' respect

you names. People show respect for each other."

McKnight suspects that part of reason for the large crowds is the fact that the hockey team is "something new" but he believes there's still a big advantage for the school in having the team.

"A lot of guys want to go through school but don't want to have to leave home and friends - which they'd be forced to do if they played on a junior team. Having a school team allows the players to fit their sports in with their academics; they can play hockey and get the academic credits they need to go on in school."

And he believes it goes deeper than that, deeper than just being able to mix athletics with academics.

"I don't really think you can know someone until you've played on a team with him," he says. "After you've played hockey with a person, then you understand how he thinks."

Brohman says that the final test of the value of the high school hockey team will be whether or not the boys on the team liked it.

"We've played 27 games in the regular season and then there are the playoffs," he says. And about two practices a week. When it's all over we're going to ask the boys; 'Was it a positive experience?' If the answer is yes, then I think the coaches can call it a well-spent year."

Speaking to the Redmen it's not difficult to guess how they'll answer their coaches.

Haliburton midgets win two games

Haliburton Midgets Huskies won two games on the road in Elmvale this past weekend to defeat Elmvale three games straight in All-Ontario Quarter Final playoffs.

On Friday night, the Huskies scored a 3-2 victory with goals by Tom MacLeod, Jaro Cooper and Chris Lanigan.

The Midgets returned to Elmvale Sunday night needing only a win to advance to the playoffs and they secured that by a 7-2 score. Haliburton goal scorers were Drew Mitchell with a pass, singles to Scott Nesbitt, Allan Rydman, Ron Perrin, Ted Paish and Jeff Popple.

The Midget Huskies will now face either Barrie or Bright in All-Ontario Semi-Final play.

Dog owners asked to help protect deer herd

The Ministry of Natural Resources would like to stress the importance of dog owners maintaining control of their pets particularly at this time of year.

Conditions at the later stages of the winter usually result in a crust being formed on the snow which restricts deer movements but supports and allows dogs to travel at will.

Domestic dogs which often travel in groups take this opportunity to roam and participate in the thrill of a deer chase which often results in the death of the deer through injury or exhaustion.

Deer are in their best physical condition before they enter winter as a result of unlimited food supplies. During the winter months the food resource is reduced resulting in a gradual decline in the animal's condition.

At this time of the winter the deer is the most vulnerable to harassment. As well as receiving leg injuries from crusting snow conditions a prolonged chase results in high energy consumption for the deer already under the stress of winter. This can result in the death of the deer even without being attacked. The females are extremely sensitive to unnecessary exertion and the added stress of pursuit can lead to aborted fawns.

During this critical period for deer the Ministry of Natural Resources asks the cooperation of all dog owners in protecting the deer herds by not allowing their pets to roam unattended. The Game and Fish Act allows a Conservation Officer to destroy any dog found running deer and provides a penalty to a maximum of five thousand dollars for the owner of a dog found running at large during the closed season for deer or chasing deer.

The public can also assist by reporting any dogs observed chasing deer by contacting the Minden District Office of the Ministry of Natural Resources at 705-286-1521.

Give the deer a break! Please keep your dog tied up.

Minden skaters compete in Lindsay

On Sunday, March 1, 20 Minden skaters travelled to Lindsay to compete against others from Bancroft, Fenelon Falls, Haliburton, Lakefield and Lindsay, in the Kawartha Highlands Interclub Competition.

Each of the young men and women who participated represented the club well by skating solidly and showing team spirit and good sportsmanship. We are proud of all of them.

Our participants were:

Canskate A: Kristi Barkwell - second, Kyla Grexton and Marita Schrader.

Canskate B: Dawn Moore and Jenna Stutt.

Canfigureskate: Carol Mowat second; Lisa Ranson first and Jody Reid.

Canfigureskate (Men): Simon Reid, third.

Pre-preliminary A: Janene Garbutt first. Pre-

Pre-preliminary B: Jaime Kent second and Andrea Pawluch.

Preliminary A: Nadine Balcombe first and Meaghan Obee, third.

Preliminary B: Cori Barkwell.

Preliminary Men: Dan Garbutt, second.

Juvenile: Sara Henderson Janna Obee and Tammy Pritchard.

Preliminary Similar Dance: Jaime Kent and Andrea Pawluch.

Preliminary Mixed Dance: Dan Garbutt and Jaime Kent, third.

Preliminary Interpretive: Cori Barkwell and Janene Garbutt first.

Bronze Interpretive: Dianne Garbutt and Tammy Pritchard.

Two of our skaters, by placing first, won the right to represent our club this weekend at the Eastern Ontario Section Interclub Championship in Brockville. We wish Janene Garbutt and Nadine Balcombe every success.

Neighbourhood Watch helps in thieves' capture

A recent series of break-ins at numerous homes and businesses in the south portion of OPP No. 10 District (Perth) during the month of January stresses the need for communities to work together with police through Neighbourhood Watch.

Officers from OPP detachments in Westport, Prescott, Perth, Kemptville, Brockville and Manotick, working with members of the Smiths Falls Police Department, have so far charged 17 people - eight male and two female young offenders (16 and 17 years of age) and five men in their 20's - in connection with the theft of approximately $80,000 worth of property stolen in break-ins.

The accused face a total of 75 charges stemming from 23 of the break-ins. There are many similar break-ins still being investigated, with more charges and arrests expected. A portion of the stolen items, which include microwave ovens, video recorders, televisions, stereos, camera and computer equipment and firearms, has been recovered and identified.

Investigators found five separate groups were carrying out the burglaries using the same basic method.

Most of the break-ins occurred during daylight hours, and in one instance a neighbour remembered seeing a suspicious vehicle and strangers at a house next door. The witness thought nothing of this activity until after the break-in was reported to the police - long after the culprits left the scene.

Police found that two or three male young offenders were driven around an area by a female young offender as the group scouted potential targets. A home or business appearing to be deserted or unoccupied was approached by the female, who would knock on the door as the others waited in the car.

When someone answered the knock at the door the female politely asked for directions or the use of a washroom, before leaving to find a better opportunity. If no one answered the others approached, kicked in a door and burglarized the home.

Officers from the Westport OPP detachment began arresting suspects when they stopped a car containing a recently stolen television and VCR. The arrest was the result of a licence number tip provided by a Neighbourhood Watch member who thought there was something suspicious going on at the home next door.

"This is a prime example of how important the Neighbourhood Watch program is," said OPP Commissioner Archie Ferguson. "Crimes of opportunity can be eliminated only if communities work together with police, in the common goal of crime prevention."

Council briefs

The following items were among several discussed at the February 18 meeting of Haliburton County Council.

Welfare administrator

The county's newly hired Social Services Administrator, George Davidson was introduced to the members of the council. Mr. Davidson has begun preparing for the April 1 start of the county-wide welfare program. Previously the municipalities were responsible for dealing with the support payments.

Mr. Davidson told the meeting that two case workers have been hired and they have begun reviewing the files they will be working with. The office staff for the new service has also been hired. The office will be located in the registry office.

Red Cross

In response to a request, Haliburton County Council has declared March, Red Cross month in the county.

Environment

The environment is taking a continuing battering from acid rain according to the council's environment committee chairman Don Shortreed, Deputy Reeve from Sherborne et al. He told the meeting that the county has a part to play in ensuring the message reaches residents of the United States where much of the acid rain falling on the Highlands originates. He suggested the councils might consider including a message with tax bills sent to U.S. property owners outlining the area's concern.

Shortreed also suggested that the council would be interested in hearing the opinions of Sheila Hatch, an outspoken municipal politician in Muskoka who has led the fight against acid rain in that area.

Warden Murray Fearrey suggested the council could take a stronger role in supporting those who are fighting acid rain.

In a related matter, Shortreed notified the councillors of a seminar and demonstration planned for later this spring on the control of spruce budworm. The Ministry of Natural Resources will provide the demonstration in an affected area near Tweed.

Warden Murray Fearrey suggested that the county should begin to prepare some long-range plan to fight the budworm invasion. He said money will be needed to fight the outbreak when the insect arrives in the area and suggested that funds should be put aside now in anticipation of that day.

The Warden noted that while the provincial government will be covering the cost of protection for Crown land, the spraying of private land will only be done at the landowner's expense.

Nurses

Monmouth Reeve Keith Tallman, county representative on the local health unit, told the meeting that the Haliburton, Kawartha, Pine Ridge Health Unit was the first in the world to receive acreditation. He also noted that the unit has hired its first male nurse to serve the needs of residents in Haliburton County, and that the offices of the health unit will be moved to a new location in Haliburton village.

Tallman, also told the meeting that in 1988, the Board of Health Units of Ontario will be holding their annual convention in the Highlands.

Writer

Chairman of the County Library committee, Jane Franklin, reported to the meeting that the local system has applied for an author to work with the board for a short-term period.

The program, which is subsidized by the provincial government, would have a published writer take up temporary residence in the county for a period of up to a year. During that time the author would be available to writers in the county for consultation, assessments and general discussion of the business of writing.

According to County Librarian Joel Levis, the local system would be responsible for a portion of the writer's expenses with the majority being covered by provincial subsidy. Levis said several authors are being contacted about the position.

Roads

With preliminary estimates complete for the coming year's road work, county engineer Bill Obee told the councillors to expect an approximate four per cent increase in the roads budget. He also told the meeting that an application has been made for an additional $150,000 in supplementary funding from the province for road purposes.

Clerk

County Clerk-treasurer Gary McKnight will be hospitalized shortly, the councillors were told. The clerk is expected to spend a month to six weeks in the hospital.

Students of Mrs. Bernie Davis' Grade 4 class have been receiving a first hand education in municipal government during the past few weeks. The classes visited a meeting of the Anson, Hindon and Minden council, Haliburton County Council and toured various township offices. Three of the students question Minden councillor Verne Graham during a break in the meeting.

Swiss tourists visit Locarno

For the past three weeks, the Locarno Resort on Lake Kashagawiogamog has been host to a Swiss tour group. Although Haliburton does get its share of European visitors there's something unique about this group: they're travelling on a tour organized by a newspaper.

Called Blick, the paper is one of the largest German language dailies in Europe.

The participants in the tour - there are about 80 in all - were divided into three groups, each one spending 9 days in Canada. Six of those days were spent at the Locarno and the remaining three in Toronto.

The tourists liked what they saw of Canada and found the accommodation "absolutely satisfactory", according to tour guide John Kundig.

The idea of the tour, Kundig said, was to give the group - few of whom had been to North America before - a taste of the "New World".

He explained that though there are some similarities in the climate and terrain of the two countries, his group was fascinated by the differences.

"There's a sense of space here that you just don't get anywhere in Europe," Kundig said. "A feeling that the horizon is boundless."

To give the Swiss an idea of how Canadians spend their time in the winter the group have been taken ice fishing, cross-country skiing, and snowmobiling. They also got a chance to ride on a dog sled - local sledder Val Lougheed offered the rides. The visitors also went to see a Toronto Maple Leaf hockey game at the Gardens.

Kundig said the trip was particularly intriguing for Swiss because they can do so much more in Canada than they could at home.

"For instance there is no snowmobiling in Switzerland. It is against the law. And we don't see many dog sleds either."

The hockey game also very much enjoyed. Though it's not an unfamiliar sport to the Swiss, they don't often get the chance to see anything like the calibre of NHL games at home.

"Skiing is the national sport," Kundig explained. "We ski like Canadians play hockey. At an early age every Swiss has the opportunity to try skiing. Usually, because we have so many big mountains, they love it."

Peter Baumgartner, owner of Locarno, is also pleased with the tour. "It was all a great success and many of the guests said they wanted to come back again," he said.

In fact at least two members of the tour group did extend their stay beyond the allotted time.

Baumgartner said he had been told of plans to repeat the tour next winter. But next year instead of three groups, Blick is planning to organize four.

"The Swiss loved it here in Haliburton," Baumgartner explained. "They were surprised to get such good food - they said they'd never had such huge servings - and quality accommodation.

"In Switzerland everything is much more expensive. A drink in a bar costs twice what it does here. So every day, after ice fishing or cross country skiing they'd relax at the bar."

The tour was promoted in Switzerland as an opportunity to ski the Canadian wilderness, and the group got what they expected.

Baumgartner said that Locarno has had groups of two and three European guests at a time before but never as many as the Swiss tour.

"The fact that they were pleased with our product shows that the resorts in Haliburton can cater to the Europeans," he said. "In many ways the service we offer is superior to what they might expect at home. For instance we have whirlpool baths in some of our rooms, and meals are served in a large, modern dining room.

"In Europe many hotels require guests to share a communal bathroom and often the bedrooms are tiny."

Baumgartner said he believes that one of the most difficult problems facing resort owners in the county is lack of publicity. "So often people - even from as close as Toronto and Hamilton - just don't know who or where we are. They say, 'oh Haliburton. It's so nice here but I've never heard of it before.' "

Most of the major resorts advertise in the Toronto newspapers but still, he said, it's an uphill battle. "People always know where Vermont is and they know what you're talking about if you say you've been to Muskoka for the weekend - but they look at you blankly when you talk about Haliburton."

He conceded however that this has been changing in the last few years. For the first time county resorts are developing a strong winter trade. Recently there was an article praising the virtues of Haliburton in a large-circulation snowmobile magazine, and with the growth of the cross-country ski trails in the County, more and more are opening their eyes to what this area has to offer.

Program grant

Heather Lodge near Minden will attempt to attract more travellers with the help of a $4,238.00 grant under the Ministry of Tourism and Recreation's Destinations East program. The Honourable John Eakins, MPP for Victoria-Haliburton said the grant will assist the lodge in its marketing to become more competetive in the tourism market.

"The operators of Heather Lodge have demonstrated sound operational and management skills and with the improved market position, the lodge will become recognized as one of the area's fine, small year-round resorts," Eakins said. Destinations East is a seven part Ministry initiative designed to improve tourism in Eastern Ontario.

A motivation for learning

by Faith Aggett

In childhood, interests provide a strong motivation to learn. A child who is interested in an activity, whether it is play or work, will put forth more effort to learn than a child who is less interested or bored. If learning experiences are to tap the child's full resources, they must be timed to coincide with his interests. This is the 'teachable moment.'

Interests add enjoyment to life. If he lacks interests, his achievements will fall far short of his capabilities. As long as the activity is satisfying, interest remains high. When satisfaction wanes, so does interest. An activity that fails to satisfy, stimulate or challenge the individuals is boring. When children are bored, they are likely to get into mischief and cause trouble for others in the hope of stirring up some excitement. For the most part, children experience boredom when they are forced to do things that do not fit their needs or give them satisfaction.

The trick is determining interests as opposed to whims. Whims are only temporary interests, highly motivating at the time, but giving only temporary satisfaction. True interests are more persistent because they satisfy a need in the individual's life. Many adults fail to recognize that what appears to be an interest may, in reality, be only a whim. They expect the child to follow through when satisfaction is no longer gained. A child may want to learn to play the piano because a playmate is taking music lessons. Parents make arrangements for lessons, buy a piano and then force the child to practice. If playing the piano gives the child little satisfaction, his interest will disappear and he will rebel against the lessons and the practice.

Children's interests are individual. They parallel their physical and mental development. They depend on readiness and the opportunity to learn. They are affected by their environment, personal limitations and cultural influences.

Basically, the stronger the need, the stronger and more lasting the interest. It is possible to discover what a child's interests are by observing his activities, and by studying his questions, what he talks about, what he reads and draws and what his wishes are.

Voices of H.H.S.S.

Here we are once again for our second edition with more information on the goings on at HHSS.

For starters, last week set the scene for a late night 'pyjama party'. The event took place when students attended the dance wearing nighties and footed flanelette pyjamas (all in good taste). These conditions were set up to add a twist to the normal dances. It was a different, fun night for all.

Although we stated last week, we will be unable to provide the results from the Stage Band competition held Friday in Bracebridge. The results will be tallied and distributed to each school in about four weeks.

Last night, March 3, was a Parent/Student information evening at HHSS. Information about prerequisites and admission requirements to colleges and universities was provided to interested students. This forum also gave information on employment trends for the near future and opportunities.

In school, the girls' pinball (intramural) s scheduled for this week was changed to badminton.

On Friday past, all students were issued option sheets for the 1987-88 school year. Option sheets are filled out by the students who list the courses that they wish to take in the next year. For the amount of time given to complete, it will be quite a hard task to perform, when a student knows that an incorrect course selection could mean the difference between the future occupation wished for and one that was settled because a student didn't take the right courses in high school.

For the past two weeks, our school has been hosting two student teachers in our Phys. Ed. and Geography classes. Miss Dejeu and Mr. Hatkoski have been great and we wish them every success in the future.

On Carnival Day, February 25, a great day was had by all. Except perhaps, by those who had the misfortune of not being able to rent skis, due to the fact that not enough pairs were on hand to rent. Perhaps next year things will go without a hitch to make it a truly perfect day.

If you have any comments or questions, write to us at Voices of HHSS care of The Times.

Until next week.

Katy Beach, Dianne Garbutt, Misti Campbell, Heather Donaldson.

Man charged with assault serving five year term

A 27 year old man who recently skipped bail in Minden on three charges of sexual assault is now serving a five year sentence in a Saskatchewan prison for the three Minden charges as well as a charge of kidnapping.

Ariel John Bellosillo, a homosexual pedophile, was stopped after a high speed chase by the Ontario Provincial Police near the northwestern Ontario town of Vermilion Bay in February of 1986. In the back seat of the car police found seven year old David Mitchell.

David had been kidnapped at knife-point, bound, gagged and drugged by Bellosillo outside a swimming pool in the Saskatchewan town of Moose Jaw thirteen hours earlier.

David's parents and senior Saskatchewan prosecutors in the case have expressed concern that Bellosillo will be eligible for parole in March of 1988.

In 1985 Bellosillo was charged by Minden OPP with three counts of sexual assault arising out of complaints laid against the man by administrators of a Haliburton County group home where he was then employed.

While he was moving to Haliburton County from Peterborough at the end of 1984, Bellosillo befriended a nine year old boy. Three times he persuaded the boy to spend weekends with him at the group home and assulted him.

Bellosillo also sexually assaulted a thirteen year old boy and a fifteen year old boy living in at the home.

In October 1981, Bellosillo was convicted of assaulting the young son of an Ottawa neighbour, for which he received a suspended sentence and was placed on probation for two years. Testimony in the case included evidence that Bellosillo had given the boy a soft drink laced with sleeping pills.

During his probation period Bellosillo was found guilty of assaulting three Peterborough area boys. He was fined $150.

Corporal Steve Adam of the Minden OPP dealt with Bellosillo during the Haliburton County group home case. He remembers the man as "a typical pedophile; very cautious and careful to lead people to believe he's normal."

Adam said Bellosillo "is basically intelligent, well-spoken young man. But he spends his life planning ways to gain access to young boys."

by Joel Levis

Here's your chance to get the drop on the March Break blues or to put them in their place before they become a problem. Haliburton County Public Library has programmes scheduled that will be just the thing to meet your needs and to bring excitement into your lives when the weather may be getting you down.

First is the "Puppet Mongers Presents The Brick Brothers Circus" for your enjoyment. Everyone likes puppets and when they are done well, they are a treat to behold. David and Ann Powell are a brother and sister team who are humourous, innovative and as "real pros" are always popular and something that shouldn't be missed.

Four performances only, so pick the time and place that is the most convenient to you and we will see your there:

March 16 Snowdon Branch (Lochlin) 10:00 a.m.; March 16 Monmouth Branch (Wilberforce) at the Lloyd Watson Centre 3:00 p.m.; March 17 Cardiff Branch (Highland Grove) 10:30 a.m.; and March 17 Bicroft Branch (Cardiff) at 3:00 p.m.

Then there is Mouse Tails, prepared, produced and presented by Waterwood Productions which is a company dedicated to the presentation of original theatre for young people. Through mime, music, puppets and "?" they present an exciting show that is so expansive that we can't hold it in our branches but instead, need the bigger space of the community centres in the following communities:

March 21 - Glamorgan Branch (Gooderham) Community Centre 11:00 a.m. March 21 Dysart Branch (Haliburton) Dysart Community Centre 2:30 p.m.

Remember...you are welcome to attend at any branch at a time that is convenient to you and if you like the show, go more than once...There are no charges at any location.

People to thank for these events...Ministry of Citizenship and Culture who provide the money..... OLS Trent who provide the help in booking and awareness...Haliburton County Public Library who co-ordinates at the county level...and your local branch of the Haliburton County Public Library. We all thank you for your support and hope that you have found something new in the library for you and your family.

senior league

by Pearl Lyle

Well Folks, it looks as if the nice days are over for a while. It wasn't such a bad winter after all.

Last Sunday evening Mr. and Mrs. Burgess took charge of the service assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Thompson and on Tuesday morning the service was conducted by Rev. Jim Fast of the Minden Gospel Church.

We were pleased to hear the good news Friday night that Mr. Samuelson is staying on at Hyland Crest.

The movies this week were "The Grand Canyon of Colorado" and "Beethoven and his Music". They were most enjoyable.

The ladies from Eagle Lake Baptist Church brought our tea party lunch on Thursday and it was really enjoyed as was the music and singing which followed. Don't forget ladies and gentlemen the residents' council meeting on Thursday afternoon at three o'clock after our tea party on March 5th.

Mrs. Oliver's son came Saturday afternoon and took her out for lunch and a pleasant drive, it was such a nice day.

Mr. Alf Richardson had his brother in for dinner and a visit.

A lot of people were disappointed Thursday night as there was no bingo owing to the absence of those who look after it. Better luck next time.

Mr. and Mrs. George Brown and Nora Crego of Kinmount visited with me Wednesday afternoon, which was a pleasure for me as they were my neighbours when I lived in Kinmount.

Some of the ladies have taken advantage of the nice weather and have been walking around the block enjoying the fresh air and sunshine.

Aloha

Think of Cheerful things, not the gloomy and your thoughts will shine in your face.

News from Staanworth Court

Jean and Harry Cowen recently returned from a very interesting trip to the Bahama Islands. Some of the highlights Jean shared with us:

- Seeing the White House and the Capitol Building.

- Driving to Cape Canaveral and touring the Kennedy Space Centre; seeing the launch pad where the Space Shuttle is launched; seeing the Lunar Module that landed on the moon and sharing the excitement and learning that it is here that travel between earth and space begins and ends.

- A thrill of a cruise on the beautiful ship, the Scandinavian Sky, where luxury is at its best, and a gala evening could be enjoyed.

- The exciting Bahamian markets, the beauty of the orange groves, the hills of Tennessee - all these memories well stowed away and we thank Jean and Harry for sharing them with us.

Kathleen Thorn recently celebrated her birthday with her family in Toronto.

In looking forward to spring, some folks are very faithful in doing exercises preparing for a new wardrobe, hopefully. My friend was asked if she was preparing, her answer was "When it comes time to exercise, I just lie down until the feeling wears off." An idea?

On February 18, our residents, along with visitors Mr. and Mrs. Bill Prentice and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Pergolas, met with Henry and Vera Howe to celebrate with them their 65th wedding anniversary. The evening began with a very tastily arranged supper of roast Cornish hens, baked potatoes, vegetables, jellied salads and a lovely anniversary cake decorated by Ann Barker. This was followed by presentations by Corinne and Ed Pergolas of many congratulatory letters; from Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth, Prime Minister Brian Mulroney, M.P. Bill Scott, MPP John Eakins and other officials and residents.

Everyone enjoyed the toast to this highly-esteemed and young-at-heart couple. We were entertained for the remainder of the evening by their lovely daughter Shirley with her guitar, her husband Murry on the accordion, Don White on the violin, Kirk Bull on the bass guitar and Sheldon Stevenson on electric organ.

Following such a sumptous supper, this enjoyable music really finished off a very fulfilled evening. We do thank Lil D and her committee for a well organized evening. To our willing musicians and our visitors, come again soon.

To all our anniversary couples for this month, may these lines convey our wishes. Jean and Art Marsh, Mary and Albert Stata and Vera and Henry Howe - Congratulations and Warm thoughts are with you all on your day.

And with each thought a prayer,
That God may bless you with His Love,
And bless the Love you share.

* * *

We understand the family will be celebrating this anniversary with their parents. Daughter Val was able to be with us all on this occasion from Bellingham, Wa. U.S.A.

Cheer up everyone - Spring is coming. See you next time.

Taxi will replace seniors' bus

The big yellow Hyland Crest Senior Citizens' Home bus won't be making the rounds anymore.

Anson, Hindon and Minden council voted at their meeting last Thursday to replace the familiar village sight with the Minden Taxi service because of mechanical problems that have plagued the bus ever since it was purchased by the municipality.

The vehicle was used to ferry Minden seniors on regular routes throughout the village.

Often however, it ran with only a handful of passengers, "it was like using a 747 jet to take four people to work," said Minden clerk-treasurer Bev Millar.

Council hope the taxi service will be more dependable and efficient.

The John McGrath Branch 441 of the Royal Canadian Legion sponsored the public school speaking and poster contest for the children of Kinmount Public School on February 25, 1987. Speakers and artists are to be commended for their imagination and effort. The poster contest theme was 'For our 60th Anniversary' and to promote public speaking. Prizes were awarded to all participants. The Ladies Auxiliary served refreshments and home baking to the delight of all and the Legion was filled to capacity. The comments were positive and all who attended enjoyed this event in Kinmount. Winners of the public speaking were Juniors: L. Cori Barkwell, Tai Gerrard, Brian Dettman. Seniors: Julie Austin, Jill Dettman and Zoe Rolphe. Poster winners - Juniors: Veronica Johnstone, John Henderson and Colleen Longhurst. Seniors: Jenny Bunville, Phoebe Crego and Julie Austin. The Legion Branch wishes to express sincere appreciation to the judges for their time and interest. The first place winners from junior and senior level in public speaking progress to the zone contest on March 29 in Fenelon Falls.

kid's korner

by Jean Lacey

Hi Kids!

Here is another puzzle for you with a word list. Look in the diagram of letters for the words given in the list. Find them by reading up, down, forward, backward and diagonally. They are all in a straight line and do not skip letters. Circle the words in the diagram and cross it off in the list.

It's as easy as that. Have fun!

Branch 129 news

Canada on Parade is a showcase and review of our role and lifestyle during the most notable era of our time. It brings together the history, pageantry, events, emotions, triumphs, joys and nostalgia of the W.W.II era. This unique, entertaining and educational extravaganza takes place under one roof at the Coliseum and East Annex at Exhibition Place on May 8,9,10.

Branch 129 will take a bus to this spectacular on either Friday, May 8 or Sunday, May 10. Both days have exhibits of military paraphernalia, museum and archival materials, collectibles, memorabilia and live entertainment.

On Friday from 8 p.m. to midnight, a big band dance recreates the musical memories of the 30's and 40's. This is called a Sentimental Journey. But, most exciting of all, you'll see and hear The Forces' Sweetheart - in person - Dame Vera Lynn.

Sunday, May 10, the Canada on Parade Tattoo, a massed band tattoo, with, once again, Dame Vera Lynn, in the familiar surroundings of her beloved troops, will be featured.

The cost for either of these days is $50.00. Admission is $25.00 plus $2.50 sales tax plus $22.50 for transportation - per person. Book now through the Legion. Tickets must be paid for and reserved before March 14.

On March 5 at 7 p.m., Gary Barker and a senior officer from the Department of Veterans' Affairs will be here at the legion to explain the Aging Veterans' Programs. All veterans, whether Legion members or not are invited to attend.

On Saturday March 21, the group that headlined last summer's Bluegrass Festival The Boys From Indiana, will be at your Legion. They will be joined by a new and impressive group called Ontario's Bluegrass Connection. Tickets are on sale now and cost $7 in advance and $8 at the door. If the evening show is sold out, the groups are agreeable to playing a Saturday matinee. This is a great warmup for the Bluegrass Festival in August. Get your tickets early and don't be disappointed.

BIRTHS

LAWR: Carol and Phillip are pleased to announce the arrival of their daughter Kelly, newest member of Stanhope's firefighting team. Born February 23 at 2:15 p.m. Ross Memorial Hospital Lindsay. Proud grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lawr, Maple Lake and Mr. and Mrs. Denver Lewis, Haliburton. Great-granddaughter for Mrs. Lila Mills, Mrs. Mildred Knapp and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lewis.
To Dr. Dean Stokes a very special thank you for his expert medical care in the ambulance and to Bill Davis and Wendall Woods of Haliburton Ambulance for helping us to beat the stork and also John Muise for getting us to the doctor's office in time. To Doctors Bhatia, Lindsay and Winters and the hospital staff, many thanks to all concerned for a job well done. 3A

CARD OF THANKS

Kinmount Winter Carnival, February 21-22 would like to thank the following: The ladies who donated and worked the concession booth, the retailers for prize donations, volunteers who helped in any way and the public for their participation Kinmount Rec. Committee.

IN APPRECIATION

We would like to express our Appreciation for your concerns during my recent surgery and hospitalization at Toronto Western Hospital and also the help given to our family, making it more bearable for us.

Just a short note to say, "The memory of your thoughtfulness will last for many days". Although words cannot express it, Thank you - for your many prayers, cards, fruit, flowers, candy, phone calls, visits and friendship.

Special thanks to the Stoughton and McCausland Families, the Haliburton Ambulance Service (Pat Kennedy & Larry Hartin) who did an excellent job as usual, Dr. H. Good, Haliburton, Doctors and Staff of 5th Floor West, ICU, & CCU of Toronto Western, Glamorgan Township Council & Staff, County Council and fellow employees at Schwandt Lumber for picking up my share of the work load.

P.S. to Don Hillard of Stormy Lake, my friend and consultant (sometimes), "I will not steal all the limelight" - Ha, Ha

THANK YOU all and may God be with you.
